Couldn't Lend it to Her!

A small boy who was sitting next to a very haughty lady in a city street car, kept sniffing in a most annoying manner. At last the lady could bear it no longer, and turned to the lad.

"Boy, have you got a handkerchief?" she demanded.

The small boy looked at her for a few seconds, and then, in a dignified tone, came the answer:

"Yes, I have, but I don't lend it to strangers."

WISE HOSTESS

Won Her Guests to Postum

"Three great coffee drinkers were my old school friend and her two daughters.

"They were always complaining and taking medicine." (Both tea and coffee are injurious to many persons, because they contain the subtle, poisonous drug, caffeine.) "I determined to give them Postum instead of coffee when they visited me, so without saying anything to them about it, I made a big pot of Postum the first morning.

"Before the meal was half over, each one passed up her cup to be refilled, remarking how fine the 'coffee' was. The mother asked for a third cup and inquired as to the brand of coffee I used.

"I didn't answer her question just then, for I heard her say a while before that she didn't like Postum unless it was more than half coffee.

"After breakfast I told her that the

'coffee' she liked so well at breakfast was pure Postum, and the reason she liked it was because it was properly made.

"I have been brought up from a nervous, wretched invalid, to a fine condition of physical health by leaving off coffee and using Postum.

"I am doing all I can to help the world from coffee slavery to Postum freedom, and have earned the gratitude of many, many friends." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form —must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packs.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 10c tins.

Both forms are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

After the War Conferences

At the end of the war we shall clearly need to have two great conferences, one a conference of the belligerents to settle the territorial questions that concern them; the other a conference of all the powers, including the neutrals, to re-establish the law of nations on sound basis, to find means for upholding it in time of war, and for ridding the world of the ferocity of militarism even in time of peace. Let us always, in judging the American people and their statesmen, keep our eyes on that final event, and so act that, whatever we or they do now, we shall be able to work together, when the time comes, to save the world from a renewal of this savagery.—Westminster Gazette.

Manitoba Woman Sends Message

TELLS SUFFERING WOMEN TO USE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mrs. F. J. Garlis, Who Suffered With Backache, Says That the Results She Got From Dodd's Kidney Pills Were Wonderful

Stewart Valley, Sask.—(Special).—Mrs. F. J. Garlis, wife of an estimable resident of this place, is enthusiastic in her praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have helped me wonderfully," Mrs. Garlis says in an interview. "A year ago I was so bad with my back I could hardly move. I took four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped me more than I can tell you."

Mrs. Garlis is now able to attend to her household duties as well as nurse her fine big baby boy and she feels that she cannot recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills too highly.

Backache is the bane of the average woman's life. It is accompanied by a weakness and lassitude that makes life a burden. It is thousands of women all over Canada are telling their suffering sisters that relief and cure is to be found in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cure the kidneys and nine-tenths of women's ills come from diseased or disordered kidneys.

The French woman who has received word of her husband's safety in a German prison camp, after writing 200 unproductive letters is a strong believer in perseverance and one of those who have profited by it.

REPLENISH YOUR BLOOD IN THE SPRING

Just now you are feeling "out of sorts"—not your usual self. Quite exhausted at times and cannot devote real energy to your work. Sleep does not rest you and you wake up feeling "all tired out." Perhaps rheumatism is flying through your muscles and joints, or may be your skin is disfigured by rashes, boils or pimples. Headaches, twinges of neuritis, fits of nervousness, irritability of temper and a disordered stomach often increase your discomfort in the spring.

The cause—winter has left its mark on you. These troubles are signs that your blood is poor and watery, that your nerves are exhausted. You must renew and enrich your blood at once and restore tone to your tired nerves, or there may be a complication.

The most powerful remedy for these spring ailments in men, women and children is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, because these Pills cleanse bad blood and strengthen weak nerves.

New, rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring—is plentifully created by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and with this new, pure blood in your veins you quickly regain health and increase your strength. Then your skin becomes clear, your eyes bright, your nerves strong, and you feel better, eat better, sleep better, and are able to do your work.

Begin your spring tonic treatment today for the blood and nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—the Pills that strengthen.

These Pills are sold by most dealers, but do not be persuaded to take "some thing just the same." If you can't get the genuine Pills from your dealer they will be sent you by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Father, what is a veterinary surgeon?"

"One of those fellows at the pension office, my son, who examines the veterans for pensions."

A Pill That Proves Its Value.—Those of weak stomach will find strength in Parment's Vegetable Pills, because they serve to maintain the healthful action of the stomach and the liver, irregularities in which are most disquieting. Dyspepsias are well acquainted with them and value them at their proper worth. They have afforded relief when other preparations have failed, and have effected cures in ailments of long standing where other medicines were found unavailing.

The British army has given another and surprise to its enemies.

The "hotter" and "hotter" thing is a most effective French weapon which is absolutely deadly to adversaries, and being automatically aimed by a periscope attachment, exposes those using it to no danger.

Give a reckless man rope enough and he will pawn it for a drink.

An Oil Without Alcohol.—Some oils and many medicines, which are of a prominent ingredient. A judicious mingling of six essential oils compose the famous Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and there is no alcohol in it, so that its effects are lasting. There is no medicinal oil compounded that can equal this oil in its preventive and healing power.

COMPARE MANITOBA WITH NEBRASKA

A Contrast and Example—How Manufacturing can be Developed in Agricultural Area—A Lesson to Heed

Nebraska has an area of 76,840 square miles, as compared with Manitoba 35,832 square miles. Nebraska's population in 1900 was 1,066,306. The population of Manitoba is now under 500,000.

Omaha, the principal city of Nebraska, with a population to-day of about 165,000 last year, manufactured goods to the value of $67,863,000, an increase of $8,000,000 over the previous year. In the last four years this city has gained 115 per cent. in the volume of manufactured products. The amount of capital invested in manufacturing in Omaha is now $51,264,000. Wages paid to workers have increased 20 per cent. in four years, and over $15,000,000 worth of raw materials were used by Omaha factories during 1914. The six other cities in this state show what manufacturing has done. Lincoln has 49,000 population, Grand Island 12,000, Hastings 11,000, Beatrice 10,500 and Fremont 10,000. The figures given are on a very conservative estimate by the United States Bureau of Census at Washington.

Industries vs. Imports

It seems evident that Nebraska has developed her industries instead of developing her imports. Here cities have passed the "warehouse" stage. Surely self-interest would suggest to the Western Canadian that he buy the products of his own country, or goods made in the West for Western needs, if he can buy them of equal quality at equal price with anything else the market affords. These are stalwart, self-reliant times, and it is surely a better and broader Canadianism to face the problems of national development engaging in a common task and standing together. If we are to develop we must support our home industries, we must show a spirit of unity and good will to our country. If we give the foreign manufacturer and foreign worker an equal opportunity with the Canadian manufacturer and Canadian worker, it is evident that the foreigner gets the best of the deal because the Canadian producer is accorded no similar favor in the foreign market such as are granted foreign goods in the Canadian market.

Shall we have manufacturing centres or merely distributing centres? Shall we steadily reduce our population by driving the worker and his family to where factories are a part of the economic system? Shall we reduce the home market to the minimum and kill a close and ready demand for the product of our farms? These things are a result of importing goods instead of making them, of buying by mail instead of buying at home, of dragging down instead of developing our Western cities, towns and villages. The development of manufacturing, the purchasing of Canadian-made goods, and the patronizing of the home-town store are a vital element in the welfare and progress of both city and rural community. Let us learn a lesson from Nebraska!

Down to Realities

Canadians, and Western Canadians in particular, must take the Nebraska lesson to heart. The war has brought us all down to realities. If we are to be assured of a normal legitimate growth in Western Canada in the years to follow the war all of us will have to see to it that we do our share to stimulate this growth. We must give thought to where the goods we purchase come from; whether Canadian workmen are benefiting by our purchases as much as they should, and whether the policy we are supporting is one calculated to sustain on a reasonable basis the farming and manufacturing industries, which, in co-operation, are essential to national success.

LADY URSULA'S HUSBAND

—BY FLORENCE WARDEN
Ward, Lock & Co., Limited

There was more decision than tenderness in his voice now, and Lady Ursula, after a moment's pause, during which she cast a swift look now at her brother and now at her husband, turned quickly and went into the adjoining room without another word.

Lord Eastling beckoned Payne to the corridor.

"Why not here?" said the other, assuming now a definite air of bored astonishment at these strange proceedings. "Surely you don't want us to hold a conversation in the passage!"

"I want to speak to you where my sister can't hear what I say," said Lord Eastling, coming nearer to the other and holding him steadily with his eye.

He had laid a slight emphasis on the words, "my sister," and this gave Payne the cue.

"As your sister is now my wife," he answered with equal emphasis, but still very coolly, "surely it is for me to say whether she is to hear what you have to say or not?"

"I don't think you will say so when you know why I have come," said Lord Eastling. "At any rate, I won't speak to you where we can be overheard. So come along."

Paul affected to be intensely disgusted and irritated with this obstinacy, but he threw down his hat and travelling coat with more petulance than apprehension. He played the game to the end.

Lord Eastling led the way out of the room, and then turned to see that Paul was following him.

"Where are we going to?" asked Paul, in a hoarse voice.

"Down till we come to some room where we can talk," replied the other sharply.

They descended to the ground floor, where Lord Eastling opened the door of a dark sitting room, turned up the electric light, and then faced the other once more.

Paul was still as cool as a cucumber.

"I wonder if we may smoke here," he said as he took out a cigar-case.

"Better wait till you've heard what I have to say," said Lord Eastling.

"Well?"

"I've come to take my sister back to England."

Paul appeared quite unmoved. He just raised his eyebrows.

"Will she go?" he asked softly.

"Yes. When she knows what I know."

"Indeed. And what is that?"

"I've found out that you kept us a good deal in the dark as to your antecedents—Mr. Tomkinson."

They faced each other, and Paul did not flinch. He just raised his eyebrows.

His attitude indeed would have seemed superb in the indifference of Lord Eastling had not known of his attempts to avoid this meeting. As he was, he knew that all this was just "houseness," and that the man had had plenty of time to prepare his reception.

But his acting—if acting it was—approached perfection. He stared at the younger man as if doubtful of his sanity, and then asked with perfect gentleness and courtesy:

"Why do you call me Tomkinson? My name is Payne. You know it is."

The younger man held his ground, although in spite of himself, he could not help feeling shaken by this complete self-command.

"I know that you call yourself Paul Payne now, but you were Tomkinson, Sydney Tomkinson—in other days," he ended, rather nervously.

Payne came over to him, and put his face, with his flashing, handsome dark eyes, close to that of the younger man.

"What other days?" he asked with great abruptness.

Lord Eastling collected his wits. Then he spoke out boldly:

"In the days when you were known as a forger," said he.

It was strange that he should have felt doubtful about the man's guilt until that moment, and that it was by no means clear in Paul Payne's face that he now felt sure the indictment was true, but only by a slight hardness of the man's voice.

"Can you tell me where I was convicted?" he asked dryly.

"You've not been convicted—yet," retorted Lord Eastling boldly.

"And have you no fear of the law of libel, when you come to me with such a tale?"

"None. You know better than to bring an action. In the meantime, you must let my sister come back with me."

Lord Eastling took a step towards the door.

"Don't you think," cried out Paul Payne, in a languid voice, "that, if such a story as yours were true, your best plan would be, not to make a fuss about this nonsense, but to get hold of me, but to hush it up, for the credit of the family, your family as well as mine?"

"It's the same thing now, you know," said the young man turned upon him furiously.

"It is not," he said. "You have wormed yourself into our house by deceit and fraud, and now you must understand that the connection is at an end."

"And how do you propose to separate me from my wife?"

"I have only to let her know who you are, what you are, to show you to her in your true colors, and there will be no further question as to your position with her. My sister is a saint among women."

"Perhaps you don't know much about saints," said Payne quietly. "But anyhow, it's never too late to learn. Come upstairs with me, and tell her all this, and ask her what she's going to do."

He was so confident, so cool, that Lord Eastling doubted for a moment whether his own influence would be strong enough to overpower that of this handsome rascal, who seemed so convinced of his own powers.

And he dreaded the task of telling his sister of bringing such a hideous story to her in the midst of her radiant happiness in her love.

But it had to be done; and heavily, uneasily, he followed Payne back to the sitting room, where they now found Lady Ursula, her hat and coat off, sitting by the fire which had been hastily lighted.

It seemed to her brother as he followed Paul into the room that she looked more like a saint than a woman with her fair face a little drawn, a little sharpened, after the fatigues of the journey.

She looked up, innocent of any evil news, but puzzled still.

"Well, have you finished the famous talk?" she asked, putting out her hand on the sofa beside her, and leaning forward with a smile hovering round her lips.

"We've quite finished," said Paul gently. "We've quite finished. And now we've come to tell you all about it. Your brother, Ursula, wants to take you away from me."

She sat up, staring dumbly at him. "To take me away," she echoed, wonderingly.

"Yes, dear. He says he has found out that I am a forger, that my name is something, I forget what, but not Payne anyhow. And he says he is going to take me back to England, and to prevent your seeing me any more."

She had risen to her feet, and for a moment she stood uncertain, staring first into her husband's face and then into that of her brother.

And some glimmering of the situation came into her mind, for she knew by the expression of anguish upon her brother's face that he at least believed the charge he had made.

For a moment she seemed to hesitate.

"Are you going with him?" asked Paul.

For answer she put her hands on her husband's shoulders, and looked up at him with a confident, into his face.

"No," she said. "I am your wife, Paul, I'll stay with you."

The Dutch people occupy a country which contains 12,630 square miles—little more than one-tenth of the size of Great Britain and Ireland, the population being just over 6,000,000. Holland is not only flat, it is hollow. Hence its name—"Hollow-land." Along the canals the meadows are 10 feet or 12 feet, sometimes more, beneath the waterline. By the sea, at high tide, there may be a difference in the level of 10 feet and of the ocean of quite twenty-five feet or more.

Two billions of lead pencils are made each year. Half of them are made of American cedar.

Would you do something for a poor old sailor? Inquired a tramp at the gate.

"Poor old sailor!" said the workman's wife.

"Yes, m'm, I followed the water for sixteen years."

"Well," said the woman, "you certainly don't look as if you ever caught up with it!"

The Hold-over Flies

Swat the First Flies Away and You Will Have Less to Kill Later on

There are "hold-over flies" or "winter flies" which are hibernating during the cold weather, and which wake up at the first warm sign of spring.

"Don't trust the cold to kill them," warns the North Carolina Bulletin. "Don't assume that they are dead when you find them lying on floors or window sills in unwarmed rooms. They are playing possum; the will recolor when the temperature rises. Clean up the house and give special attention to every out-of-the-way place where flies may lurk. Make sure that there is nothing left which may harbor their eggs."

If you don't adopt this strategy, and start now, here is what you may be up against, according to the compilation of experts:

A female fly surviving the winter may be expected to begin laying eggs in April. Her progeny will begin laying in May. Their progeny will begin laying in June 1. We may reckon on five crops by the first of October. The first crop alone is big enough, but succeeding generations quickly run far beyond the grasp of the human imagination.

If all the eggs hatched and developed into mature flies, the offspring of that one fly would amount, by Oct. 1 to the appalling number of 111,229,000,000,000,000.

Two million flies, it is said, if crammed and pressed compactly together, would occupy a space of 250,000 cubic feet. That is to say, they would probably fill solidly, from cellar to attic, about ten ordinary houses.

Of course, the eggs don't all hatch, and the little larvae and pupae don't all grow up, and the adult flies don't all carry out this thimble-laying program. If they did, all other forms of life in the world would soon be buried under an overwhelming avalanche of flies, and all the foodstuff in the world would be devoured by them. But the facts are impressive enough without this mathematical nightmare.

The moral is plain. Swat the first ones, and you'll have only tens to kill instead of tens of thousands.

Canadian Hardwood

Extensive Use of Canadian Wood by C.P.R. Pleases Lumber Interests

Not very long ago Lord Shaugnessy announced that so far as possible Canadian woods only would be used in connection with the construction and interior finish of all Canadian Pacific buildings, railway cars, etc., an announcement which was hailed with great satisfaction by the lumber interests of the Dominion.

That such a programme was possible was known to the forestry experts who have supplied to the various Canadian government exhibits in Europe and the United States magnificent samples of hardwoods with beautiful grain and attractive finish.

Now it is known that these woods are not being exploited sufficiently, but, no doubt, now that it is known there will be a good demand for it, manufacturers will give the matter greater consideration.

Austria Wants Peace

People Hate the Germans Almost as Much as Their Enemies

A neutral who lived many years in Austria relates the following impressions gained during a series of war time journeys in Austria:

"The terrible effects of the war are at once visible on arrival in Vienna. The large restaurants, brilliantly lighted at night and resounding with the music of orchestras were almost empty. Occasionally a few boulevardiers strolled in to take places at the tables, but rarely to dine there. At Vienna on a day when the fall of krona was particularly accentuated, I was able to hear the lamentations of the public at the pay desks of various banks and the phrase constantly recurred: 'Germany has deceived us, Germany has lied to us!'

"The constant news of victories spread by the 'Poff' Agency have no longer the desired effect upon the Austrian people. I heard the following remarks made by a high court official: 'If our armies were not so inextricably tied to the German armies we should have made separate peace long ago.'

"Austria has in store for the Kaiser more than one surprise. For the moment, however, the Germans dominate the country and nothing more astonishing the 'Germanizers' in Austria than to find that their allies desert them almost as much as their enemies."

Animal World states that the total number of horses treated by vets. in the hospital in France, up to the end of July, 1918, had been 51,184; of these 47,192 had been returned as cured, 4,266 had died, 4,841 had been destroyed, and 1,842 had been sold, while 22,991 still remained under treatment.

Production to Capacity

Is the farmer justified in believing that the firm tone of the horse market and the present high prices for live stock rest upon a secure foundation? May he look forward with any confidence to the next season's or next year's market? Should he prepare, as against an advertised shortage and high prices for all classes of farm animals, by breeding a larger number of mares or of cows, sheep, hogs and poultry? We are confident that the farmer has never been in a more secure position than at present, as regards the extension of his breeding operations, but, to enable him to form more easily his own conclusions, we submit the following facts:

Horses.—Since the outbreak of the war, the British Remount Commission has purchased in Canada 15,000 horses. 8,000 have been bought by French contractors and 25,000 by the Canadian Department of Militia. The Department of Militia is now engaged in buying an additional thousand head. The British Remount Commission has purchased over 700 since March and is buying daily in Montreal. French contractors are anxious to obtain supplies and are arranging to buy all that are available both in the East and in the West. It is understood that, as a result of the purchases already made, army buyers are finding it increasingly difficult, both in the United States and in Canada, to readily secure the number of horses which the require, particularly of the type suitable for heavy cavalry or heavy artillery.

In addition to the purchases for army account, commercial activity from two distinct quarters has exerted a very evident influence upon the Canadian horse market during the past three or four months. Since the beginning of the year, 6,000 horses reached the Winnipeg Stock Yards from Eastern Canada, and 5,917 were shipped from the same yards westwards, mostly to Saskatchewan. During the months of January, February March, 1,805 horses were exported to the United States. A few hundred more went forward to the same market in April. The horses exported were good farm chunks weighing from 1,300 to 1,500 lbs. As high as $800 a pair was paid for animals possessing extra quality and conformation. This new movement in the horse market is having its effect upon prices all over Canada.

Buyers report that the better classes of drafters and farm chunks are getting scarce and hard to buy. The same holds true of good big roadsters and saddlers. The noticeable scarcity of good horses of these descriptions illustrates the fact that demand has already overtaken supply and makes it very evident that all the really good sound mare in the country should be bred this year. It cannot be too strongly emphasized, however, that they should be mated only with strictly high class sires. The number of horses rejected by army buyers clearly indicates that there is no place for the unsound horse or the misfit.

Such animals have been, are now and always will be a drag on the market. Bred to the best if you would have the best. Unsound or malformed mares are just as bad as unsound stallions. It is easier to raise a good animal than a poor one. Manage the work this spring in order that the best mare on the farm may be regularly returned to the horse. Next year, a good crop of sound, healthy colts will be as good as a bank account. Canada is likely to enter shortly the commercial export market and that market will require all you can produce.

Canada's Need For Thrift

These may be abnormal times and thus suggest extra care for thrift. A return to what in comparison may be termed a normal period, however, seems to prove that there was then nearly as much reason for the same policy. In the report of the Commission on the cost of living in Canada it is shown that the prices of food in this country rose from 100 to 190.9 to 145 in 1913, and of food and coal combined from 100 to 138.6. In the United Kingdom the rise in the same period was from 100 to 113.8 for food and from 100 to 109.2 for coal. This being on the whole a colder climate and coal not being so accessible, it would hardly be expected that the combined increase would be proportionately less than for the single necessity, food, yet it seems to be the case. The one deduction appears possible, that greater thrift, comparatively speaking, is exercised in the use of fuel than in the consumption of food.

Why should the increase of the cost of food in Canada have been greater in the fourteen years than in Britain? That is a question worthy of answer and of thought. We are not only self-contained in most articles of food but in the more common ones have a surplus for export. Britain, on the other hand, is an importer of at least fourteen of the sixteen articles reckoned with in the computation, namely, beef, mutton, pork, bacon, eggs, butter, cheese, flour, oatmeal, rice, sugar, coffee, potatoes and tea, the exceptions being bread and milk. In our case the only exceptions to home production of articles of consumption, that at least there is real cause for being are rice, sugar, coffee and tea. Again it asks—Why, then, the increased difference in our favour of the relative cost of living?

There can be but one answer to the query here propounded—that we are less thrifty, more self-indulgent, more wasteful than our close relations of the British Isles. In addition the investigations of the Cost of Living Commission would seem to indicate that Canada is rapidly becoming the most expensive to live in of all the affiliated countries of that empire in such circumstances it is apparent that it is up to our people to go in for inspection and to consider in what way the situation can be remedied and improved. We have not the large poverty stricken class to lessen the percentage that Great Britain unhappily possesses, but home production and home industry should outweigh that possible reason for some of the difference. There are and must be other causes for the difference, and those here set forth appear to be the main ones. If every Canadian would consider that every dollar, every cent, saved and judiciously invested, and that every ounce of food produced, meant so much added to the country's capital and wealth, it is not difficult to believe that there would soon be a decrease in the proportional increase of the cost of the necessities of life along with a speedy diminution in household expenses.

How Canada Has Profited

The figures show plainly enough how Canada has profited by that Democratic reduction of the tariff, which was especially heavy on many of the commodities brought from the Dominion. It appears that last year we imported from Canada goods worth $140,659,000, which was $40,000,000 more than in 1913, $52,000,000 more than in 1912, $6,000,000 more than in 1911, and $45,000,000 more than in 1910. On the other hand, our exports to Canada were $70,000,000 less than the preceding year. Canada is selling us a great deal more than ever before and what she sells comes into direct competition with the products of American farms, forests and factories, and the Democratic tariff helps her to do it. That tariff works advantage to Canada's farmers than any reciprocal arrangement would have done.—Trav. N.Y. Times.

Let us forget, remember that free trade means direct competition with the lowest wage paid everywhere in the world.
